

Student protection plan 2021-25

1. An assessment of the range of risks to the continuation of study for your students, how those risks may differ based on your students' needs, characteristics and circumstances, and the likelihood that those risks will crystallise

Blackpool and the Fylde College (B&FC) has been providing high quality career focused education for over 125 years¹; the risk that B&FC is unable to fulfil its obligations and duties to you is very low because our financial performance is consistently strong. B&FC provides a range of services to a diverse student population and this economy of scale provides security that our financial position presents low to zero risk of non-continuation² or closure.

The risk of campus closure is very low because B&FC has a rigorous business planning process that ensures that all our resources are matched against curriculum need. Whatever programme you are studying you can be assured that it is fit for purpose, meets the needs of industry and aims to secure long term sustainable employment. This level of planning and forecasting mitigates any risks associated with course or campus closure. In addition, new courses or those due for refreshing and updating through revalidation, conduct significant levels of market research ensuring curriculum and resources are fit for purpose, informed by employers and are subject to the highest level of scrutiny³.

B&FC delivers highly specialised courses including honours degrees, foundation degrees, higher national and advanced diplomas and certificates all of these are co-created with employers. The risk that B&FC will no longer deliver courses at a specified campus is very low and as a mixed economy provider our economies of scale provide you with the added security that continuation of study will not be adversely affected.

The risk that we are no longer able to deliver material components of a course is low because courses are designed to be taught by integrated teams of academic staff who have levels of expertise matched against modules and levels, each module has at least two convenors attached thereby mitigating risks of dependency on individual members of staff. The breadth of provision at B&FC, where academic teams may deliver across multiple programmes and levels, provides highly effective continuity of service. This mitigates reliance on individual team members. In some areas where there are highly specialised skills, Marine Biology for example, we engage with a range of professional bodies, The Environment Agency and The Institute for Marine Biology for example, this provides an added layer of security to mitigate against any local skills shortage.

2. The measures that you have put in place to mitigate those risks that you consider to be reasonably likely to crystallise

In the unlikely event that we were unable to deliver a course at a specified campus, where possible, the provision would be relocated to another campus and appropriate transport would be provided for you to ensure your studies would not be interrupted. The flexibility of our estate makes relocation the most likely and positive outcome⁴.

It may be that over time, a course in a specialised programme may be superseded by newer provision, and together with declining recruitment may need to close. Such instances are anticipated through highly effective curriculum planning and arrangements are made to ensure that all students currently enrolled to the programme continue to receive the teaching and learning opportunities that enable them to succeed. If B&FC were unable to continue to deliver courses in such circumstances, we have a commitment to 'teach out' the existing programme. This means that we commit to ensuring your course of study will be completed within the time scale specified at enrolment.

Many programmes are designed with shared pathways and modular components, this provides enhancements to the student experience and mitigates against the negative impact of small group sizes. There have been instances where programmes have continued with small group numbers and in these cases the overall student experience has been positively sustained. Highly effective business planning ensures this delivery model is sustainable.

In the highly unlikely event that B&FC were unable to deliver material components of a course in any subject our breadth and depth of academic expertise would enable us to provide secure continuation of study. Our partnership organisations would be an additional support in this regard and would extend our existing highly effective recruitment processes. One of our core values is to place the student at the heart of all we do and this value ensures you are a respected partner in all learning activities.

3. Information about the policy you have in place to refund tuition fees and other relevant costs to your students and to provide compensation where necessary in the event that you are no longer able to preserve continuation of study

B&FC maintains a strong financial position⁵ with significant fixed asset values. This means we are a financially stable organisation and in the highly unlikely event of a claim for non-continuation and associated compensation you can be assured that resources are in place to meet our obligations.

If you are in receipt of loans from the SLC, in receipt of sponsorship or privately funded, refunds will fall within scope of the policy document attached.

In the unlikely event that significant changes to study locations are encountered, B&FC will provide you with flexible and appropriate arrangements to ensure that continuation of study is not adversely impacted. This may include the provision of bespoke transport arrangements between sites. Where possible a minimum of 5 weeks' notice will be given for any instances of relocation.

B&FC has a well-established suite of bursary packages⁶: These are applied for and awarded annually. The eligibility criteria is specified in the link below. There is no precedent, within B&FC, for bursary payments being suspended without fault or breach of the terms and no instances of compensation claims in light of course closure or non-continuation.

The B&FC refunds policy is available through the College website⁷

4. Information about how you will communicate with students about your student protection plan.

We will communicate the provision of the student protection plan to you and future students through the college website⁷.

All published prospectus materials will include a link to this web site.

For new and existing students the plan will be included in all student handbooks and accessible through the virtual learning environment.

The student protection plan will be communicated to all staff through a programme of HE fora, including bespoke staff development sessions, conference activities and curriculum planning sessions. It will be considered through initial validation and revalidation events. Although B&FC may make improvements and minor adjustments to modules any changes which will trigger the student protection plan must be authorised by the Higher Education Academic Standards and Development Committee acting through delegated authority of the Higher Education Academic Board.

The student protection plan will be reviewed through a range of student engagement groups with formalised feedback from the Student Union. This will be managed through the normal quality cycle where the plan will be a standing agenda item on a Quality Assurance Meeting. This level of engagement will establish a partnership approach to the formation and review of the student protection plan with you as a key stakeholder.

Where possible you will be given a minimum of 5 weeks' notice, in writing, for material changes to your chosen course. The Directorate for Students will provide individualised support through 1:1 meetings to ensure effective support is in place. Heads of Curriculum will be available to support groups of students and the Higher Education Learning Mentors will provide an additional layer of support to ensure academic progression is not adversely affected. A minimum of three individual and two group meetings will be available during any transition period.

Independent advice will be delivered through the Student Union Executive and their elected representatives.

An open and transparent process of review will be conducted annually. Student representation will be managed by the Student Union Sabbatical Officer and the Student Union President with a formal annual report submitted to the HE Academic Board for consideration. The partnership arrangements already in place at B&FC will add a layer of cooperation to this process.
